

Seminar

Graph Neural Networks and Feature Correlation

Graph neural networks (GNNs) have emerged as a technique for understanding relationships and dependencies in complex data structures. The target of this seminar is to investigate whether such networks are suitable in identifying feature correlation within vision based neural networks, potentially aiding a pruning algorithm in making decisions on which filters have dependencies on one another.

Contact

Nael Fafous

Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering
Chair of Integrated Systems

Phone: +49.89.289.23858

Building: N1 (Theresienstr. 90)

Room: N2116

Email: nael.fafous@tum.de

Advisors

Nael Yousef Abdullah Al-Fafous, Alexander Frickenstein