UDP-based haptic communication in Linux system

In this topic, you need to implement a UDP-based haptic communication framework in Linux. A windows version is already implemented. Your task is to shift all the functions to Linux and add additional required functions.

Prerequisites

C++, Linux, UDP socket programming in C++

Advisors

Xiao Xu