

Seminar

Power Modeling of Multicore Processors

Managing power is fundamental for multicore processor performance. For this, accurate information is necessary about where and when power is consumed. A multitude of neural network modeling methodologies have been proposed in the last years. In this seminar, you will make a literature review into the newest power modeling techniques proposed in the last 3 years.

Contact

Mark Sagi
Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering
Chair of Integrated Systems

Email: mark.sagi@tum.de

Advisors

Mark Sagi