

Master's Thesis

Multidimensional Vibrotactile Signal Acquisition

The goal is to build a sensor array with which we can acquire vibrotactile signal data on many points simultaneously. Special consideration is to be given to the human hand. The goal is to build a signal database using different materials and exploration patterns.

Prerequisites

MATLAB, FPGA programming recommended

Advisors

Andreas Noll